Distributors, hardware and software partners

TQ cultivates partnerships regarding hardware and software development since many years. All partners of TQ are highly specialized companies, who belong to the leading companies in their sectors.

We provide you our long-term experience in the areas of development, production and integration of embedded systems. This know how, bundled with the know how of our partners, enables to offer new and innovative solutions within incredibly short time.

Distributors

The distributors are contractual partners of TQ, which are responsible for the distribution of the TQ mini modules and industrial PCs in their particular country. Furthermore they take over the on-the-spot support of the customers.
